

Oops!

Here I've been telling everybody the Riddlegram deadline is "the third Wednesday", addle-patedly thinking that the third Wednesday is always the second Wednesday after the second Monday. Then Skip Baird set me straight: in February and March, the third Wednesday is the first Wednesday after the second Monday. Follow me?

Or are you confused, too? Anyway, the Riddlegram deadline, every month, is the second Wednesday after the Women's Board meeting - that is, the Wednesday of the week after the Women's Board meets.

Or let's put it this way: this month the deadline is March 22. Anyway, please phone or mail me your items, the sooner the better. Thanks.

Bowling Green Offers Auxiliaries Splendid Fund-Raising Opportunity

Bowling Green Auxiliary, through the gracious cooperation of Riddle Board Member and Mrs. Clarence L. Jordan, is extending to the other auxiliaries a unique and inviting way to add to their treasures and at the same time enjoy a most unusual and delightful afternoon.

Any auxiliary, Bowling Green President Veronica Welch explains, may sell tickets to this spring's tour of the beautiful and botanically fascinating gardens of the Jordans' 31-acre estate in Bowling Green.

The tour will be Saturday, May 6, between 2 and 5:30. Tickets will be $1 each

This Year The Fair Will be At Rose Tree - a La Patee

Cette annee la Fete-Champetre aura mieu au Rose Tree Hunt Club.

The above sentence (surely you can find somebody around the house who can translate it) is in French to celebrate the fact that the theme of the Country Fair this year will be Parisian.

The date you already know: Saturday, Sept. 16. Now, too, it can be told that the major prizes (tickets, 50¢) will be: a fully equipped station wagon, a mink stole and a trip for two.

And here, complete as of now, is the roll of those in charge of the various activities: Chairman—Donnie Watson, Bowling Green; co-chairmen—Becky Brohard, Rose Tree, and Jean O'Brien, Bowling Green; secretary—Ginny Frank, Rose Tree; booth chairman—Joan Scala, Upper Providence; co-chairman—Joan Muller, Upper Providence; prize chairman—Edna Cresse, Beatty Hills; co-chairman—Pat Mann, Beatty Hills.

Men's prize chairman—Bill Gross; co-chairman—S. Clayton Snear; decorating chairman—Anne Zimmerman (unaffiliated); publicity chairman—Rhoda Weisz, Gradyville; advertising chairman—Penny Walton, Moylan-Rose Valley; grand concourse chairman—Bill Baird; antique and classic car exhibit—Jack Grotz.

Dog obedience chairman—Annette Jarvis, Rose Tree; square-dancing dogs—Walter G. Ziegler; fashion show chairman—Betty Harper, Media; ideas, television and radio personalities—Paul Wilkinson; junior horse show—Lee Clark, Media; programs—Bob Graham and Paul Wilkinson; pony rides—Frank O'Brien; men's committee chairman—Wynne Eisenhart; parking—Clayton Snear; information—Miriam McCafferty and Skip Baird.

and the auxiliaries may keep 75¢ of each ticket sold, leaving 25¢ to Bowling Green to cover its expenses for refreshment stands, advertising, printing and parking.

Auxiliaries interested in participating should contact Fannie (Mrs. J. A.) Green, at LO 6-0787. She's Bowling Green's Garden Tour chairman.

Plantings at the Jordans' "The Acres" are one of the oldest and most unusual in the area. Many are between 100 and 200 years old, and include giant azaleas, purple waterfalls of Chinese, Japanese, and Formosa wisteria, venerable pink and white dogwood, cherry and crabapple, a century-old boxwood garden covering an acre, exotic shrubs, rhododendron and giant native trees that were here when Penn landed.

All of it, says Mr. Jordan, should be about at its peak the day of the tour. Camera fans can have a field day and everybody can enjoy a visual feast.

INTRODUCING THE BOARD

W. Scott Smith

Riddle's Board of Directors showed its shrewdness in selecting its liaison officer to the women's auxiliaries. In addition to the more basic attributes he brings to the job, W. Scott Smith is affable, handsome and youthful.

He is much else, however, that makes him a fine addition to the Riddle team. His abilities have manifest themselves, among other ways, by the fact that, at 37, he is already general manager of the Industrial Farm & Equipment Corporation of Chester, after less than 12 years with the firm.

Scott Smith went with Industrial Farm & Equipment right out of Syracuse University, where he majored in sales management, graduated with a B.S. degree and learned to put his shoulder to the wheel (as well as to rivals) as tackle on the football team and a member of the lacrosse team.

Mr. Smith's shortlived football career at Syracuse (he had to give it up because of an injury) was a natural follow-through from his days at Haverford School, where he was All-Interac tackle for three years.

Just before he was to graduate from Haverford School, he entered the Marines (in 1942), spent 22 months in the Pacific, saw extensive action under fire, was wounded in September of 1944 and sent back to the States, where he finished out his hitch in 1946.

Out of the service, he finished his secondary school training at Brown Prep and moved on to Syracuse, where he also participated in intramural sports and became a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon.

In 1950, he married the former Kathleen Eyre Stull. They have two sons, W. Scott III, who is 9, and Rodman Wetherill, 7. Both are following in Dad's footsteps at Haverford School, though still a little young for the varsity football team.

The Smiths belong to St. Alban's Episcopal Church in Newtown Square (they live on Newtown Street Road), and he is also a member of the Merion Golf Club, the Racquet Club and the Vesper Club.

A once-a-week, 11-handicap golfer, Scott Smith is also a devotee of the rod & reel, and enjoys deep-sea fishing off his cabin cruiser in Chesapeake when the weather calls for it.

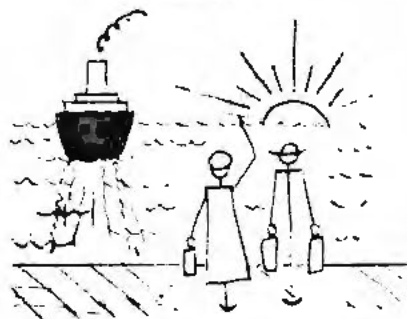

He became a member of Riddle's Board of Directors last August and has been demonstrating ever since what a wise choice the directors made in inviting him aboard.

PROJECTS COMMITTEE

A new projects committee, headed by Mary Jelinek, Rose Tree President, has been named to consider alternatives to the Associated Auxiliaries' annual fashion show.

CRUISEWISE...

This Is It - !

DON'T MISS THE BOAT

March 15 is the ABSOLUTE deadline for reserving your cabin on the fabulous Bermuda Cruise Oct. 14 to 19 on the Norwegian-American Lines' handsomely appointed "Bergensfjord".

After the 15th space on the ship will become available to the general public; and that means that all remaining cabins could be sold in 15 minutes. If you haven't reserved space by then, you may well be lost in the shuffle. If you are contemplating going, or if you are on the verge of selling the cruise to somebody, don't waste any time. Act now!!

Don't forget that every passenger signed up during the auxiliaries' exclusive opportunity means $10 for Riddle Memorial Hospital. And when a great vacation can serve the Hospital as well as you, it's foolish to miss out. Get your reservations—your own or the ones you're selling—to your auxiliary cruise chairman or to DeDe Coffin (LO 6-2955) as promptly as possible.

Have You Heard ???

...that Riddlewood cleared $225.30 on its progressive dinner in February. Pretty progressive, we'd say...that the 1960 Fair scrapbook is available in the Hospital Office, and Fair Chairman Donnie Watson advises you to take a look at it. Middletown's Kathleen Tidswell, she says, "did a marvelously clever job on it..."

...that Upper Providence's Mrs. George Musser is continuing her very successful sewing classes, from which the auxiliary has already realized over $100. A stitch in time save money...that Ruth and Bob Graham's daughter Leslie will enter her horse, Amidship in the junior horse show come Fair time; and how appropriate! Amidship is a descendant of Man-O'-War...

...that anybody buying furniture or rugs from the Sheffield Co. in Drexel Hill or Paoli who mentions the Nether Providence auxiliary will be helping Riddle. The auxiliary gets a generous commission on all sales credited to it...that Secretary Elizabeth Rhodes' precisely elegant handwriting drew oohs and aahs at the last Women's Board meeting...

...that Media will hold its annual horse show sometime in June. Lee Clark will be in charge...that Bowling Green's garden tour chairman is—that's right—Fannie Green...that the C.C. Willis (she's Lima's card party chairman) took off for Montega Bay, Jamaica, Feb. 25...that Moylan-Rose Valley President DeDe Coffin will observe her birthday (Oct. 17) during the cruise to Bermuda. She says it'll be her "75th"...

...that Riddlewood will have a series of card parties near the end of March at which the hostesses will be Marmie Velimesis, Jane Easton, Peg Burger, Marg Piccone, Ellen Kelly, Mabel Webb, Jo Bertolett, Nancy Roach, and Lee Clanon...that Mrs. Herbert J. Rosenstern is Upper Providence's new non-officer member of the Women's Board...

TEMPORARY ECLIPSE

Because of an unusually large number of transfers to other cities, an exceptional number of blessed events and similar causes, the Newtown Square Auxiliary has temporarily disbanded.

However, Mrs. Nat Fuselli, President, said she hopes and expects that the auxiliary will eventually be re-activated. Meanwhile, its active members are being invited to join other nearby auxiliaries and thus continue the splendid work they have been doing under Mrs. Fuselli's fine leadership.
